Don't miss this up-close and hands-on opportunity to learn from some of the best instructors in the game. The clinic staff will include coaches, players and scouts from the Chicago Cubs and other Major League Organizations; as well as NCAA, NAIA and junior college coaches. Not only will you hear the staff speak in all areas of the game, you will see them implement their teaching styles, philosophies and drills as they work with some of the best high school and college players in the Northwest.

Take advantage of this unique clinic experience to get all your questions answered while learning the proper fundamentals and techniques of throwing, receiving, hitting, pitching, catching, fielding, base running and team defense. You will also have the opportunity to learn the importance of vision training, strength and conditioning specific for baseball, nutrition, injury prevention, college recruiting, professional baseball and practice organization. More importantly, you will hear and see how to help your players reach their full potential while teaching them to play the game the right way.
